

The FCC should not implement any proposal that would lessen Indiana's Telephone Privacy law protections.

The current Indiana Privacy law has reduced unwanted calls from 4-5 per day to less than 1 or 2 per month. This has been a great improvement for the quality of our life in the evenings and for my wife is home during the work day.

My family and I had looked forward to this Indiana law, and it has delivered on its promise.